Unlock the power of your Vitæ investment

Many key strengths of the Vitæ product range lie in it's configurability, and ability to automate many costly and slow day to day processes. Vitæ doesn't only aim to reduce overhead costs, it seeks to maximise your revenues.

Our range of training services exist to help you beat rivals to the punch by tapping quickly into such inbuilt Vitæ strengths as:-

- Process Automation
- Business Alerts
- Automated data capture
- Automated Activity Tracking
- Analytical Reporting
- Mapping
- Integration with other applications

Business practices and automation are like the chicken and the egg. Current business practice has all too often been founded on, and limited by, the available automation tools at the time.

Dramatic new automation possibilities offered by innovatory new systems like Vitæ therefore demand a review of current practice if the best returns are to be obtained and, like any new toolset, users need to quickly become skilled and adept if craftsman-quality results are to be achieved. With excellent training, system and consultant performances alike can be quickly empowered to fly rather than stagger.

Whilst Vitæ staff are always happy to guide, recommend and provide consultancy on all aspects of system set up, on best business practice, on suggested data structures, on which activities to automate and how, and a host of other questions, how much more intimately will your own staff understand your business drivers and your market? Given a thorough understanding of the possibilities within the Vitæ tools at their disposal, how much more vision can your own people bring to imaginative, pro-active, and creative use of the powerful Vitæ toolset in dealing with your own evolving business issues and the new market demands they face daily?

Business users; power users; system administrators; IT managers, administrative staff. However users interact with Vitæ, in our experience and, more importantly that of our clients, training pays on the bottom line.

A comprehensive syllabus of modular courses is available at our Newbury-based centre or these can be delivered on-site. Custom courses to suit your own business practices, delivered at a site of your choosing, can also be arranged to suit.
